

A Letter from our Executive Director

Dear WGB Friends,

I hope that you and your family remain safe. This global pandemic continues to evolve and impact all of our lives in ways none of us could have imagined, but as always, Women Giving Back is here to provide critical essentials to those we serve.

We know that our families, particularly those with health issues, seniors and caregivers of school-age children, do not have the luxury of stocking up on food and supplies. We know that many of our clients do not have the ability to endure a leave without pay. We are doing our very best to support those who need us now more than ever. Just as you have, we have been adjusting daily to the critical needs and are doing our very best to support our clients through this period of crisis.
